Grandmother No-billed After Child's Death in Car

A Harris County grand jury today chose not to indict Donna Chesser, 44, in the death of her 2½-year-old grandson on Aug. 13. The child was left in a car located at 421 E. NASA Pkwy. in Webster. Chesser had planned to take the child to daycare that morning, but then forgot that she had put him in her car. He was discovered inside the car that evening, dead from hyperthermia due to environmental exposure.

Kenneth Magidson states, "The grand jury heard all available evidence in the case, and they declined to indict Ms. Chesser for any charge. We respect the decision of the grand jury and our sympathy is extended to the victim's family."
