DISTRICT ATTORNEY LYKOS WELCOMES NEW FIRST ASSISTANT AND CHIEF INVESTIGATIVE EXECUTIVE AND PROMOTES THREE PROSECUTORS

Harris County District Attorney Pat Lykos today announced the following personnel changes:

- Lykos named Bill Hawkins First Assistant District Attorney. Hawkins, formerly a retired prosecutor in private practice, brings the benefit of nearly 28 years of experience as a Harris County assistant district attorney to this position. "Bill is an accomplished trial lawyer, as well as a meticulous and respected manager," said Lykos. "Having handled the most serious cases this office prosecutes, he is uniquely situated to guide our prosecutorial staff in the pursuit of justice."
- Lykos named Walker McAnally Chief Investigative Executive. McAnally, a retired peace officer, will administratively manage and support the District Attorney's investigative staff. "Walker's decades of law enforcement experience give him the experience and insight necessary to help our investigative staff perform at the highest level," said Lykos.
- Lykos named Terrance Windham Chief of the Integrity Bureau. Windham, promoted from his position as Chief of the Juvenile Division, now supervises the Police Integrity Division, the Public Integrity Division, and the Grand Jury Division. "The Governmental Integrity Bureau serves as the foundation of our commitment to maintaining the public's trust in the criminal justice system," said Lykos. "Given Terrance's military background and his extensive prosecutorial and investigative experience, the people of Harris County can rest assured that investigations of public servants and police officers will be done diligently and objectively."
- Lykos named Scott Durfee General Counsel. During his seventeen years as Chief of the General Litigation Division, Durfee has acquired extensive experience in both criminal and civil government law. "Scott is respected in this county and throughout Texas as an expert in government law," said Lykos. "He is an eloquent advocate for our office and a wise counselor."
- Lykos named Perry Jo Rendon Chief of the Juvenile Division. "As an expert in juvenile law, Perry Jo is highly qualified for this position," said Lykos. "She knows that there are many different approaches and responses to the unique problem of juvenile crime that will ensure both public safety and effective rehabilitation of youthful offenders."
