351st Grand Jury Declines to Indict
Harris County Precinct 7 Constable May Walker

Members of the 351st grand jury chose not to indict Harris County Precinct Seven Constable May Walker today, regarding alleged campaign finance improprieties for which she was the subject of an investigation by the Harris County District Attorney's Office.

Steven Morris, Chief of the District Attorney's Government Integrity Bureau—

"Although I cannot reveal the proceedings of the grand jury, I can say that they heard all available evidence, reviewed the applicable laws, and carefully considered their options."

District Attorney Pat Lykos—

"Prosecutors and investigators exhaustively gathered evidence and interviewed witnesses. I commend them for their diligence and professionalism. Our system of justice involves many checks and balances. We respect the integrity of the process and the decisions made by grand jurors."
